

Test 1.

Student A - Over the weekend, the boy and his father decided to buy a TV. So they come to the TV store. The father pays with money and they go home. When they get home, the boy and dad were carrying the TV into the house, the boy tripped and dropped the TV. The boy was very nervous and afraid because he thought the TV was broken. Entering the house, he was glad to see that it was not broken.

Student B - Winter. The weather is very good. They boy and the girl decided to go outside and play. While the boy and girl were playing and making a snowman, their dog was playing with a ball. After making snowballs. He shoots in the snow and plays with his dogs. One day, the dog's ball falls onto the snowman and breaks the snowman.

Dialogue

(In my opinion, the most important subjects are considered unnecessary by students. For ex

In my opinion the most important subjects in school, physics, english, algebra, chemistry.

and least important subjects: PE, literature.

Many complex and interesting subjects are considered unnecessary by students. For example, chemistry or physics are one of the few subjects that are actually worth sweating over in order to understand them. But their application is really very ~~not~~ narrow